MISS WHEELER WEDS COLLINS.

Retired English Officer and Heiress Succeeded in Being Married.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15.—Capt. Charles Collins, the former English army officer, who was in the limelight recently by reason of charges which brought him in the courts, was married at midnight last night to Amelia Rumsey Wheeler, daughter of the sewing machine manufacturer, whose parents had used every means to prevent the union.

The couple arrived last night, motored to Towson and got a license. None of the ministers to whom they applied would perform the ceremony, so they went to Glen Arm, a village, and induced the Rev. Mr. Pearce, a retired Baptist minister, who is now a mail carrier, to tie the knot.

They left for New York to-day.

FREMONT'S MAP OF THE WEST.

California Judge Has One of the Original Issue of 500.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—Judge John E. Richards, speaking at the Community Club luncheon in the Palace Hotel on "Fremont's Map, a Relic of the Great Unknown West," commented upon the common ignorance of the West by the people of the East prior to the making of the map in 1842-1844, and recounted historical incidents since that time to the present.

Judge Richards quoted from a book by McMaster on President Jefferson's message of 1804 as "the most remarkable document which any President ever transmitted to Congress." It told of a tribe of Indians of gigantic stature who inhabited the region west of the Mississippi, of tall bluffs faced with stone and carved by the hand of nature with a multitude of antique towers, of plains covered with buffalo because the land was too rich to grow trees, of a vast mountain of salt 180 miles long, forty-five miles wide, treeless and shrubless and all glittering white, with saline waters flowing from the fissures, and of how hundreds of this salt had been brought to St. Louis.

The Judge told of the Lewis and Clark expedition of 1805-07, inspired probably by Jefferson's message. He said that the census of 1830 gave less than two persons to the square mile in the territory included in the Louisiana Purchase, whereas in 1900 the census showed a total population of 15,000,000, with a taxable wealth of more than 400 times $15,000,000, the price paid to France for the West.

The old map, Judge Richards explained, had been in his family since 1851. It was one of 500 published by Congress from Fremont's original. It shows all the explored area of the West at that time. It begins at the Mississippi River, follows the "Platte" on the north and the "Santa Fe" trail on the south to the coast. The coast line is crudely traced from a point below the present Mexican line to the strait of Juan de Fuca.

PASTOR WHITE UNREPENTANT.

He Fires a Militant Letter to Gov. Glynn From Prison.

Bouck White, pastor of the Church of the Social Revolution, who is now in the Blackwell's Island penitentiary for creating a disturbance in the Calvary Baptist Church on May 10, has written a letter to Gov. Glynn in view of the fact that petitions being circulated for his pardon intimate that imprisonment has made him repentant. He denies this in the following terms:

"Repentant? I am, sir, the most unrepentant prisoner a New York jail ever sloughed into a cell. Let another Ludlow massacre happen, I would repeat my deed tomorrow."

"Nevertheless there is something that you ought to do in this affair, something necessitated by the rules of the game that this civilization you uphold professes to play. It is that you use your influence with the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of this State to get my case on the calendar before my sentence expires. I desire a trial. The only hearing I have had has been in a police court."

"Thus far the powers, ecclesiastical, judicial and political, in league against me have combined to deny me a hearing in a superior court. When the Appellate Division sits in October it will be too late to save me from nearly six months of imprisonment. But, if you use your influence with the Appellate Division, my name and my church, vindication is what we desire. And to it we are entitled."

MISS CORNELIA E. BRYCE NOW BRIDE OF GIFFORD PINCHOT

Fall Wedding Plan Given Up to Please Mr. Pinchot's Mother, Who is Ill—Col. Roosevelt at Wedding of Progressive Leader

Copyright, 1914, by Underwood & Underwood.
Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Pinchot and Edith Cram, the bride's niece, flower girl.

ROSLYN, L. I., Aug. 15.—Miss Cornelia E. Bryce, daughter of General and Mrs. Lloyd Stevens Bryce, and Gifford Pinchot, Progressive candidate for United States Senator from Pennsylvania, were married at the Bryce home here at 10:30 o'clock this morning by the Rev. Clifton H. Brewer, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church of Roslyn. The wedding was characterized by extreme simplicity and followed the announcement of the engagement by only a few days.

This abruptness, it is said, was due to the wish of Mr. Pinchot's mother, Mrs. Mary Eno Pinchot, who is seriously ill, and feared that if the ceremony took place in the autumn, as originally intended, she might not be alive to know of the marriage. Several days ago handwritten notes were sent out to intimate friends and other invitations were extended personally or over the telephone.

Miss Bryce, wearing a traveling costume of blue, a hat of the same color, and carrying white flowers, entered the room on the arm of her father, former United States Minister to the Netherlands. She was met by Mr. Pinchot, whose only attendant was his brother, Amos Pinchot, who was best man.

The couple left on their honeymoon after a wedding breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Pinchot are to go immediately to the home of Mr. Pinchot at Shauquatic, Conn.

The air of the house was heavy with the fragrance of summer flowers and foliage. Guests represented intimate friends of both families, many of whom motored to the Bryce home for the morning wedding from their neighboring country places. Among the guests were Col. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, William Draper Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bacon, Mrs. Amos Pinchot, Mr. and Mrs. Sergeant Cram, Mrs. Charles P. Wood, Regis Post, William P. Eno and Mr. and Mrs. Burnside Foster.

The bride is a sportswoman of skill and several years ago was prominent among the horsewomen of the Meadow Brook Hunt Club. She became active recently in civic movements. She is a member of the conference on unemployment among women and a few months ago helped in the successful attempt to open the civil service to women by the passage of the Civil Service Act.

Mr. Pinchot was chief of the forestry service when Col. Roosevelt was President.

"PEG" AT CHEAP PRICES.

Hartley Manners' Comedy Seen at a Combination Theatre.

"Peg o' My Heart"—At the Manhattan Opera House.
Peg o' My Heart.....Elisa Ryan
Solicitor Hawkes.....Frank Burbeck
Sir Gerald Adair.....Thomas Holding
Edith Chichester.....Alma Tell
Lady Chichester.....Lidia Leigh
Alaric.....Vivian Gilbert

It would not be accurate in describing the opening of the Manhattan Opera House last night to say that for the first time "Peg o' My Heart" was popular. Everybody knows that New York has watched this irresistible heroine for more than six hundred performances, and few heroines have been so popular. But last night's audience was the first to witness Hartley Manners' play at popular prices. Only in that respect could Peg be said to have been any less popular in the past than she became then.

Elisa Ryan, Peg secunda in the long list that has carried Mr. Manners' play over most of the United States, always with the same success, acted the title role in a way to account for the popularity of the work wherever she introduced it. There used to be the conviction in the minds of the knowing that without Laurette Taylor's delightful cooperation Mr. Manners' Victorian play might have met with no success. That was a theory, however, which failed completely as fact, however when Mr. Morosco's numerous troupes started to carry this evangel of smiles and tears to the outlanders. They revelled in it without the presence of Miss Taylor. So there must have been more in the play than her fascinations, since she could only have imparted them rather faintly to all the Pegs that came, saw her and went out to conquer.

Elisa Ryan, who acted the role to the joy of her audience last night, is "by no means a beginner" in the part of Peg, as the Duchess of Plaza Toro observed of her skill at acting since her official record gives her 300 performances of it. Frank Burbeck, always successful as the solicitor, added his authoritative performance to the company which gave Mr. Manners' play a new lease of life.

The players who illustrated the language of Ethel, the affections of the patrician Alaric, the distinction of Gerald, the one and all capable of making their characteristic count with the audience, which may be proof of their skill, but is certain evidence that Mr. Manners wrote a successful play when he produced "Peg o' My Heart."

The run of the play at the Manhattan Opera House is set down for three weeks. Then this company will take the play to Boston.

MOVIES IN NEW OPERA HOUSE.

Hammerstein Will Open Structure on Saturday With Films.

Oscar Hammerstein will open on Saturday next the Lexington Avenue Opera House, which is the name he has given to his new theatre on Madison avenue, between Fifth and Fifty-first streets. It was this house, seating nearly 3,000 persons, that Mr. Hammerstein intended to devote to performance of opera in English, but was prevented by his contract with the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Mr. Hammerstein says he will convert this elaborate structure with its promenade, foyers and other luxuries into the people's great picture house, now that he has been unable to use it as "the people's great opera house."

There will be an orchestra of forty musicians to accompany the showing of the film. Then there will be vocal numbers after the manner of the Strand Theatre. Mr. Hammerstein announces that his singers will give selections from opera in costume. In addition to the orchestra there will be a large organ to accompany the exhibition of the pictures. The film play to be shown during the first week will be "The Last Volunteer," which has never been seen in this country. Prices will range from 50 cents down to 10 cents, and there will be daily and evening performances on week days and three on Sundays.

Mr. Shubert will also give Mrs. Vanderbilt for the fete a large organ to accompany the exhibition of the pictures. The film play to be shown during the first week will be "The Last Volunteer," which has never been seen in this country.
